PROUD TO BE CARLISLE COUNTY OWNED AND OPERATED

Expanded Tax Base, Emphasis on Preparedness on Bardwell's Agenda in 2012

The site of the new Dollar Generl Store (left) and the opening of KYCare facilities this week (right) has Bardwell Mayor Philip King excited about 2012

By Michael Toon
Carlisle Weekly

When speaking with Bardwell Mayor Philip King in his office he is a hopeful mayor. 2011 was a year in Bardwell where once again, the city faced the wrath of a natural disaster, as an April tornado destroyed Front Street buildings and changed the landscape of Front Street and US Highway 51 as we know it.

As the dawn of 2012 breaks, Mayor King is excited about what the year will bring. In November there will be a city council election, and with a big announcement this week there will be expanded industry.

Mayor King announced this week that Dollar General Store will be building a new, expanded store on a new location at the intersection of Highway 51 and 62 where the laundramat and the Beardsley's/Stacy Building once sat. Crews have been working throughout the winter clearing the site and now the site is ready for initial dirt work to begin with a completion date of mid to late March, weather permitting.

The new Dollar General store will be roughly the size of the Bardwell Fire Department, 12,480 square feet. In addition to the bigger building there will be a parking lot that is currently three times the size of the current Dollar Store's parking lot. For local economy, it means that there will be the possibility of two to four jobs being added.

Also included in the building of a new Dollar General Store, Huck's Convenience Stores is also planning expansion as well. According to Mayor King, Huck's will be building on to the rear part of their building and towards Greg's Supermarket. KYCare facilities also opened up in Bardwell at the site of the old Carlisle County Health Department on Highway 51 as well.

Mayor King told the Carlisle Weekly that during the first few months of 2012 he will be meeting with other companies to occupy the space of the old Dollar General Building and possibly another company relocating to Bardwell. The first steps in rebuilding a city that was demolished by the tornados.

The Carlisle Weekly asked Mayor King if there was a resolution this year and he responded that preparedness and creating new tax bases for the city will be stressed in 2012 more than ever. "We are looking for opportunities to expand Bardwell and Carlisle County's tax bases by bringing in new jobs and new business. At the same time we are looking to stay ahead and stay prepared in the event of a natural disaster, be it a storm or something worse," King said.

Mayor King and the City of Bardwell have faced criticism in the past concerning vehicle and equipment purchases. However, Mayor King told the Weekly that without the equipment upgrades and those purchases, the City of Bardwell would have struggled even more in those disastrous events.

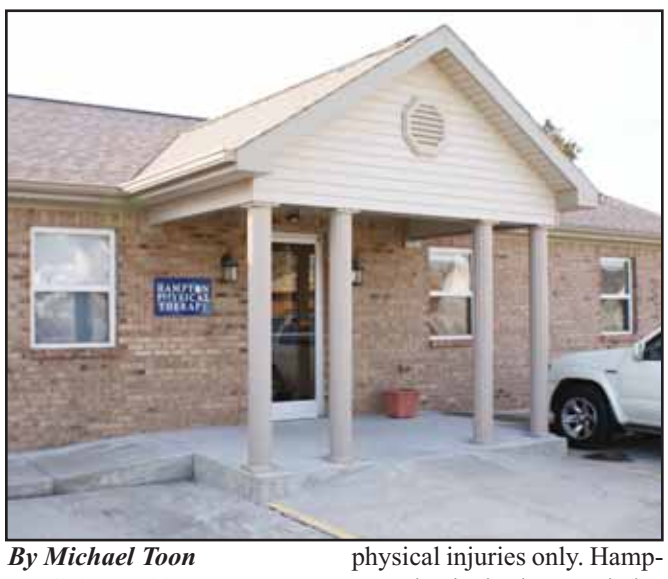

On the subject of finances Mayor King said that the city was in good fiscal shape. "All of our CDs are intact and once the FEMA money that is owed to the city comes in, the city will be strong financially," King said.

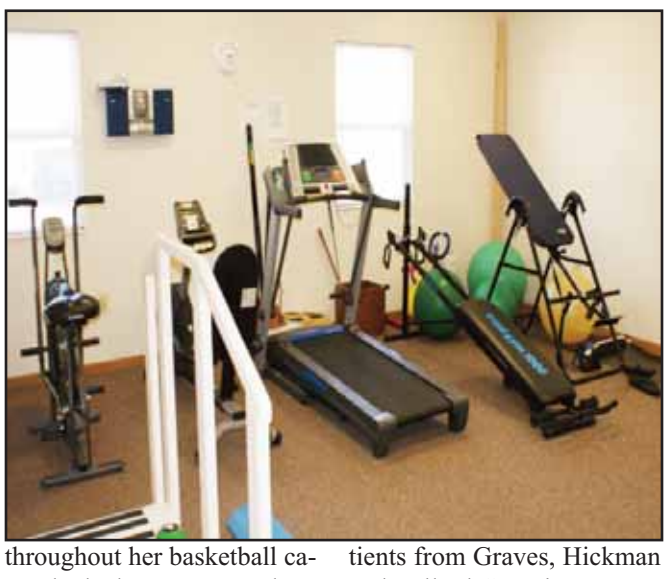

Front Street was the next issue discussed. The buildings that were damaged in the tornado beyond repair are still standing. Mayor King said that there are plans in the works to have those buildings down. However, the buildings still need to have asbestos inspections and go through the necessary environmental regulating hoops before a brick can be moved.

2012 also saw a boost for the City of Bardwell via grants, as the City was awarded over $140,000 in grants for generators that will be placed at the Fire Department and at the water treatment plant. Grant funding is also being sought to move the water wells from its current location, which is in a flood plain, to the water treatment plant on Ken Winters Drive.

Finally mayor King told the Carlisle Weekly that he will look to continue and strengthen the relationships the city has with county and state departments. Bardwell City Utilities was key in helping establish electricity to the new Carlisle County Courthouse and the city has helped aid the Kentucky State Highway Department in their projects as well. "Working together with these agencies and being there for them when they need us, means they will be there when we need them," Mayor King said.

Hampton Physical Therapy Provides Carlisle Countians With Local Rehabilitation Options

By Michael Toon
Carlisle Weekly

At Hampton Physical Therapy their motto is "We put the FUN back in function".They can also claim that they take the drive out of rehab, as they are the only rehab facility that gives Carlisle Countians the option to rehabilitate from an injury or health problem without having to drive to Paducah or Mayfield.

When speaking with the staff at Hampton Physical Therapy their commitment and love for helping people get back on their feet are evident . However, they did want to stress that their rehabilitation services are not limited to physical injuries only. Hampton Physical Therapy helps with injuries such as traumatic head injuries, pediatrics, stroke recovery and establishing exercise routines that strengthen your body and improve your overall health and fitness.

Physical therapy can also help you in areas such as neck and back pain, athletic injuries, joint replacements, balance and inner ear problems, arthritis, frozen shoulder and rotator cuff problems, post surgical rehab and spinal cord injuries.

Ashton McKelly, a Carlisle County Lady Comet Forward who battled ACL injuries throughout her basketball career looked to Hampton Physical Therapy for help after her most recent knee surgery. "My experience at Hampton Physical Therapy has helped me get back to my basketball career mainly. I probably wouldn't not be able to walk if I wouldn't have gone there. The staff down at Hampton's is great, and it is always fun when I go down there, but they also get their job done while making it fun," McKelly said.

Hampton Physical Therapy is open on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and they serve not only Carlisle County, but patients from Graves, Hickman and Ballard Counties. Hampton Physical Therapy is able to work with all physician rehabilitation programs whether they are from Paducah and Mayfield, or Nashville and St. Louis. Hampton Physical Therapy accepts Medicare, private insurance, auto insurance, workers compensation and Medicaid (if not primary). Call their friendly and caring staff at 628-9530 to schedule an appointment today.

Arlington City Council Conducts First Meeting of New Year

By Michael Toon
Carlisle Weekly

The January 9, 2012, Arlington City Council meeting began with the approval of the previous meeting's minutes, this month's treasurer's report, and the monthly bills.

In the fire department report Arlington Fire Chief Randy Cranor reported that the Arlington Fire Department responded to a mutual aid call with the Burkley Fire Department. The city council then approved the fire department's list of elected board members for 2012.

In the daily operations report, Arlington Mayor Bobby McGee told the council that Arlington City Maintenance Manager John Lemons has been working on paperwork for the water department, and clearing ditches across the city. McGee said that the city had to replace a water pump and have it repaired. Without the repairs to the pump, that cost over $1,300, the city would have ran out of water in 24 hours.

In new business letters were sent out to property owners with unkempt properties. The city will continue to pursue action against those property owners.

A $100 donation was next approved to the Carlisle County Relay for Life. The City of Arlington donates $100 to the Relay for Life every year.

In the final bit of business before adjourning, Councilman Jason Bogle brought up the issue concerning trash companies not paying their city business license fee. The $40 license fee is established for all companies who do business in the City of Arlington. According to records, trash haulers have not been paying their license fees as they should. Mayor McGee told the council that letters will be sent to the trash companies and fee and licensing payments will be enforced.

Hubbard Files for State Senator, has Raised $30,354 Thus Far

Former U.S. Congressman Carroll Hubbard of Mayfield filed candidacy papers on December 28 for First District State Senator with the Kentucky Secretary of State's Office.

Hubbard's quarterly campaign finance report as a candidate is being filed today (January 4, 2012) with the Kentucky Registry of Election Finance in Frankfort. The report indicates Hubbard since last August 16 through December 31 has raised $30, 354 and has spent $3,577.34 for a balance of $26,776.66.

Hubbard, an attorney, was elected First District State Senator at age 30 in 1967, was reelected in 1971, was elected First District Congressman in 1974 and served 18 years until 1992.

Hubbard was defeated for 2nd District State Senator by Senator Bob Leeper, I – Paducah, in 2006 by 54 votes and lost to incumbent Senator Ken Winters, R – Murray, in 2008 by 3,000 votes after winning the Democratic Primary election over challenger Rick Johnson, D – Symsonia, with a majority in each of the seven counties of the First Senate District.

The First District State Senate counties are Calloway, Carlisle, Fulton, Graves, Hickman, Lyon and Trigg Counties.

Senator Winters has indicated to media representatives he will decide by mid-January whether he will seek a third four-year term. The filing deadline is January 31.

Hubbard and his wife, Wilda Hubbard, reside at 707 Chapel Court in Mayfield.

Hubbard and his wife are members of First Baptist Church, Mayfield, where he has served as a deacon, church moderator and a Sunday School teacher.

He is a 1959 graduate of Georgetown College, a 1962 graduate of University of Louisville Law School and a veteran, having served in the U.S. Air Force at Lackland Air Force Base and Brooks Air Force Base, both in San Antonio, Texas.

It's Time to End Cervical Cancer
January is Cervical Cancer Awareness Month

Bardwell, KY (Jan. 01, 2012) – The Ballard/Carlisle County Breast and Cervical Coalition, The Purchase District Health Department and the Kentucky Department for Public Health are joining forces to stress the importance of prevention by encouraging women to get regular screenings for cervical cancer.

The HPV vaccine – designed to prevent certain strains of the Human Papillomavirus (HPV) that is linked to cervical cancer – is viewed as one of the most important developments in women's health in recent years. However, DPH officials want women to understand that the vaccine does not prevent all strains of HPV or eliminate the need for annual Pap tests, gynecological exams that screen for cervical cancer. The vaccine is available at the health department. It is available for girls ages 9-26.

"A Pap test is one of the most important health tools women can use to prevent cervical cancer," said Cinda Wilson, local health department nursing supervisor. "Prevention is a key part of public health, whether it be avoiding tobacco, following a nutritious eating plan, or getting health screenings that detect signs of illness and disease. This is one more thing we can do to ensure the future health and well-being of women in Kentucky."

The Pap test, also called a Pap smear, screens for abnormal cells in the cervix that may turn into cancer if not treated. The screening is done in a doctor's office or clinic and only takes a few minutes. Results of the test are usually ready within a few days.

Treatment options are available to remove these abnormal cells if results of the Pap test show them. In most cases, the treatment prevents cervical cancer from developing.

"Cervical cancer remains a major threat to women's health even though it can be prevented," said Jamie Smith, Cancer Control Specialist with the Kentucky Cancer Program. "The best way to avoid cervical cancer is to get regular screenings that can detect changes in the cervix early on, before cancer develops."

"If you are a Medicaid recipient, the screenings are covered through your plan," said Pam Klope, Nursing Supervisor at the Purchase District Health Department. "If you aren't up to date on your Pap tests, don't wait. Call your health care provider immediately and schedule an appointment or contact our cancer program to see if you qualify for services."

Typically, if abnormal cells are present in the cervix, it takes years before they develop into cervical cancer. That's why physicians and health care providers continually stress the importance of regular screenings – to detect abnormal cells before they become cancerous.

"When it comes to leading healthy lives, we all have a role to play to protect ourselves from the onset of unnecessary illness," said Klope. "We simply cannot forgo the health screenings that can detect diseases before they become deadly."

Women who don't have health insurance or can't afford a screening should call the Carlisle County Health Center at (270) 628-5431 to see if the Kentucky Women's Cancer Screening Program can be of assistance and to schedule an appointment.

Bill Filed to Provide Tax Credit to Volunteer Firefighters

FRANKFORT, Ky. (January 4, 2012) – Rep. Michael Meredith, R-Brownsville (19th District) has filed a bill for the 2012 Regular Session that if passed would create a $1,000 refundable tax credit for any certified volunteer firefighter in the Commonwealth.

"As the son and brother of volunteer firefighters in my hometown of Brownsville, I know the great risk and the little reward those that volunteer to protect their neighbors receive," said Rep. Meredith. "It is my hope that this proposal in some way is a thank you for those men and women who serve their communities and counties as volunteer firefighters, and reimburse them for a little of the cost they incur."

Under Rep. Meredith's bill, any volunteer firefighter who is certified by the Commission on Fire Protection Personnel Standards and Education would be eligible for a refundable tax credit of $1,000 beginning on January 1, 2013. Eligibility for the tax credit would be based on certification and that the individual must be a certified volunteer firefighter for the entire taxable year.

House Republican Representatives Sara Beth Gregory of Monticello and Jill York of Grayson are co-sponsors of Rep. Meredith's proposal. The bill is filed as HB 193 for the 2012 Regular Session.

Whitfield Announces Re-Election Bid in 2012

Congressman Ed Whitfield announced today that he will seek re-election to the U.S. House of Representatives in 2012.

Whitfield, Chairman of the Energy and Power subcommittee of the U.S. House of Representatives, cited job creation, the Nation's debt, job killing federal regulations, and regaining competitive economic advantage for his decision to seek re-election.

"Our first priority must be to put American's back to work," said Whitfield. "That means producing our own energy with Kentucky coal, completing the Keystone oil and gas pipeline, and developing all practical forms of low cost energy. It also means paying down our debt, controlling our spending, and ending job killing federal regulations like regulating farm dust, the Obama healthcare law, and the Environmental Protection Agency's out of control assault on job creation through regulatory rule making." Whitfield has been a leader in Congress in trying to bring balance to federal regulatory policy, so that decisions take into account the impact of federal actions on jobs and the economy. He has focused particularly on the actions of the Environmental Protection Agency and its failure to consider the effect of its regulations on consumers and employers while it also meets its obligations to protect health and the environment. Whitfield has chaired over 30 hearings on EPA regulations, including calling out such non-sensical proposals as those that would regulate farm dust. Whitfield also serves on the Subcommittee on Health, where he has voted to repeal the Obama health care law.

Looking ahead, Congressman Whitfield plans to continue his focus on developing a domestic energy agenda that draws on all forms of energy resources, from coal and nuclear to hydropower, natural gas and alternative energy supply. That includes particular emphasis on use of Kentucky coal. Congressman Whitfield also plans to champion infrastructure development and the jobs that come with it, including completion of Interstate 69 and badly needed repairs and maintenance of our inland waterways and harbors.

"It is my great honor to be the voice in Congress for our area of Kentucky, and I look forward to continuing to draw on my experience and seniority to advance an agenda for our Nation that creates jobs and opportunity and restores America's greatness," Whitfield said.

ONE PRESSON'S VIEW

By Kay Presson

In this week's column, I will address a couple of issues that are being discussed by many people. In fact, several readers of the Carlisle Weekly have asked me to write of these issues.

While cell phones have become an integral part of our lives, sometimes, the users are unaware of their surroundings. On my commute to Hancock's of Paducah, I have encountered several drivers who are either talking or texting while they drive. I have also been almost run into by these drivers as well.

A folk, no calls are that important, unless it is to report an accident, as to be on the cell phone. The general opinion is that cell phone usage while driving should be against the law.

Another discussion involved drivers who 1. Hang on to your bumper, following too closely and 2. Fail to dim their headlights properly. Let me know your opinion on these matters!! My contact info is as follows.

If you have any suggestions/comments or ideas please e-mail Kay at kentuckay@yahoo.com

From Father's Heart To Yours By Ralph and Pamela Hale

Giving God our Best

No doubt by this time many of you have made your New Year's resolutions and most of you have probably broken them already. You, perhaps want to be a better person or rid yourself of some habit. While you are to be commended for your desire and effort, it is rarely ever done by making New Year's resolutions. But then there is a resolution that will work every time.

Resolution= the act of resolving, state of being resolved, analysis, fixed determination, constancy of purpose, solution.

You see by the very definition of the word resolution, there must be in it the solution. And that solution comes by giving one's best to solving the problems when proper analysis has been made. Nothing can have the proper solution unless proper analysis has been made to determine the root and source of the problem and the correct act of resolving followed by fixed determination and constancy of purpose to achieve the correct solution.

When the people of Israel were brought back to their homeland after seventy years of absence, they were instructed to rebuild God's temple that had been torn down. Instead they built their own houses first and left off following God's instructions. God's word to them by the prophet Haggai was to consider their ways. Look at how life is going for you and see that things are not in good shape. You're not prospering in the promises of God, but you can be if you turn, give God your best and follow His orders. Hag. 1:2-11

Again in Malachi the people were reprimanded for not giving God their best in tithes and offerings. They were bringing the sick, lame, and blind to god and keeping the best for themselves. Mal. 1:6-8

How often are we guilty of these mindsets? We give God our leftovers instead of our best. Our church attendance filtered down to an occasional Sunday and/or certain holidays or special occasions. Our service to god feigns away to little or no activity. Our tithes go for some new toy, the latest technology etc. Our worship dribbles out like a leaky faucet. Our devotion, study and prayer become more like dog's whimpers than love, faith and fellowship.

God's mindset toward this is offer this way to your employer or the government and see if they will accept it. Just look at the way your money seems to fly out the window and you have nothing to show for it. Simply examine why you can't seem to get God's help in situations where it used to be so easy for you. God is not pleased with our leftovers; He desires and deserves our best.

Perhaps we should wake up from the spiritual sleep we've been in and see what is really important.

God's promises, bring the best in tithes and offerings and He will open the windows of heaven and pour out the blessing on us. He will rebuke the devourer for our sakes. Mal. 3; 10-12

God says, go up to the mountains and bring wood and build the house and I will take pleasure in it and be glorified.

Now god is not so much interested in a house made with men's hands as He is the spiritual house of our bodies and lives. Romans 12: 1-2 tells us to offer our bodies a living sacrifice, holy and acceptable to God. 2 Cor. 6:14-7:1 instructs us to come out of the world of compromise and uncleanness for God desires to dwell in us, walk in us and be our God and we His people.

Having therefore these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit perfecting holiness in the fear of God.

He deserves our best, let's give it to Him!

This week's inspiration

This week's inspiration from scripture verses Luke 2:22-40: Simeon was a very righteous, Jewish man. He was told he would see Jesus face to face before he died. Anna also wanted to see the Savior. God brought them together at the right time. They both saw and it was worth the wait. Jesus is the light of revelation and Simeon knew this as soon as he saw Him as a tiny baby. We need a message of joy and certainty at the start of the New Year. Our world is lit by God's holiness. Just a little bit of light can make a real difference. Let your light shine to others in this New Year. Simeon and Anna both looked at the baby and believed. Let us too rejoice in the Light of the World!

Open hearts. Open minds. Open doors.

AREA NEWS

Gov. Beshear Authorizes Funding for Heating Crisis Program

FRANKFORT, Ky. (Jan. 5, 2012) – Governor Steve Beshear today announced the immediate distribution of $9.5 million in additional federal appropriations for Kentucky's Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP).

"The availability of home heating assistance is critical at this time of the year," Gov. Beshear said. "More funding means more Kentucky families can apply for assistance to stay warm during the colder months."

The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services recently released additional funding to help eligible low-income families meet their home energy needs – bringing the total available funds since Oct. 1, 2011 to $2.6 billion. Kentucky's total funding for the fiscal year is $46.4 million.

The Cabinet for Health and Family Services (CHFS) administers the LIHEAP program in Kentucky through a contract with Community Action Kentucky (CAK), which disburses benefits through Community Action Agencies (CAA) across the state.

Every county has at least one staffed CAA office, according to the cabinet.

Gov. Beshear immediately made the additional funds available to local CAAs once his administration received notice of the funds for heating assistance.

LIHEAP's first winter funding phase, for all eligible families who need heating assistance, ended in December. The program's crisis phase, for families facing a home-heating emergency, began Jan. 4 and ends March 31 or when funding runs out.

CHFS Secretary Janie Miller said the additional funding will infuse needed assistance to low-income families across the state.

"When energy usage increases during winter's harsher weeks, it can be a struggle for families to keep up with the costs," she said. "With this funding, we can reach those households that need emergency assistance to help keep warm this winter."

Secretary Miller said CHFS and CAK are helping as many families as possible with the money. Last year, Kentucky served about 171,218 unduplicated families through both winter phases.

Families that can most benefit from LIHEAP may include seniors, young children or people with disabilities, Miller said.

LIHEAP is a short-term aid program available to clients at or below 130 percent of the federal poverty guidelines. For example, a family of four must have a monthly income of no more than $2,422.

Families applying at their CAAs during the crisis component must bring a past due or disconnect notice from their utility provider.

Having past due or disconnect notices are not the only criteria that make households eligible for LIHEAP. If an individual or family is within four days of running out of fuel, they may also be eligible for assistance if their primary heat source is propane, fuel oil, wood or kerosene. This provision also applies if they have received an eviction notice for nonpayment of rent and home heating cost is included as an undesignated portion of their rent,

For more information about applying for LIHEAP, visit www.communityactionky.org or call 800-456-3452 to find a local CAA. To learn more about other family assistance programs, log on to http://chfs.ky.gov/.

KSP INVITES FARMERS TO ATTEND OUTREACH PROGRAM

(FRANKFORT, Ky.) – The Kentucky State Police/Commercial Vehicle Enforcement Division is partnering with the University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service to provide a 'Farmer Outreach' forum that will forge enhanced relationships between law enforcement and the agricultural community.

The meeting is scheduled for January 19th at 6:00 p.m.(CT) in the U.K. Extension Office located at 140 S.R.123, suite B in Bardwell, Ky 42023. Topics of discussion will include safety regulations, licensing requirements and driver qualifications and new legislation in effect for Kentucky farm operations.

For more information about the program please contact Officer Chris Green at (270) 388-2979 or Carla Harper at (270) 628-5458

January is National Radon Action Month: Test for Dangerous Radon Gas

(Kansas City, Kan., January 5, 2012) - The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) Region 7 is encouraging people to take simple and affordable steps to test their homes for harmful levels of radon gas as part of National Radon Action Month. Radon is an invisible, odorless, tasteless radioactive gas that comes from the natural breakdown of uranium in soil, rock, and water. It causes no immediate symptoms but is the number one cause of lung cancer among non-smokers and kills more than 21,000 each year in the United States.

"Radon is a dangerous health threat to our families and communities that can be easily avoided through simple testing," said Karl Brooks, EPA Region 7 Administrator. "This month, I urge everyone to test their homes."

Nearly one of every 15 homes in the U.S. is estimated to have elevated radon levels. Simple steps to prevent this health hazard can be taken:

- Test: EPA and the U.S. Surgeon General recommend that all homes, both with and without basements, be tested for radon. Affordable do-it-yourself radon test kits are available at home improvement and hardware stores and online. A qualified radon tester can also be hired by contacting your state radon office.
- Fix: EPA recommends taking action to fix radon levels above 4 Picocuries per Liter (pCi/L). Addressing high radon levels often costs the same as other minor home repairs.
- Save a Life: By testing and fixing elevated levels of radon in your home, you can help prevent lung cancer and create a healthier home and community.

Radon can enter a home through cracks in the foundation or other openings, such as holes or pipes. Although radon can enter a home through the water supply, entry through the soil is a much larger risk. Radon in a home's water system is more likely when the home has a ground water source – such as a private well or public water supply system that uses ground water.

In addition to testing for radon, there now are safer and healthier radon-resistant construction techniques that home buyers can discuss with builders to prevent this health hazard.

In 2011, EPA announced the Federal Radon Action Plan, along with General Services Administration and the departments of Agriculture; Defense; Energy; Health and Human Services; Housing and Urban Development; Interior; and Veterans Affairs. This action plan will demonstrate the importance of radon risk reduction, address finance and incentive issues to drive testing and mitigation, and build demand for services from industry professionals.

Comets and Lady Comets Pull of Sweep of Falcons at Home

Comet fans went "Julius Caesar" on the Hickman County Falcons on Friday night

Despite flu symptoms Chase Stephens had a career night against the Falcons

Ashton McKelly's defense was key in the Lady Comet win

There were a lot of things on the line for both the Carlisle County Boys and Girls teams on Friday night against their foes, the Lady Falcons and Falcons. For Ember Wright and her Lady Comets they could put themselves in the driver's seat as far as First District seedings go for the First District Tournament. A win would push the Lady Comets to 3-0 in the district.

The game was a sloppy affair from the get go, as the Lady Falcons established their style of grind it out, beat you up play as they continued to foul in the first half, slowing the game down at a snail's pace. That strategy worked as the referees had to call the game close on the Comet side to balance the fouls that were stacking up for the Lady Falcons. For the game the Lady Comets shot 43 free throws, sinking 33 of them for nearly half of their 63 points.

In the second half, with Hickman County hanging on, the Lady Comets were able to speed the game up and get some flow to the game, as Ashton McKelly gave the Lady Comets a spark on the defensive end. McKelly, who has been plagued with knee injuries throughout her first two years of high school, looked strong as she recorded nine points and four blocks.

The Lady Comets took control of the First District with a 3-0 record by taking down the Lady Falcons 63-51. The Comets were led in scoring by Micah Ellegood who had 15 points, Jenna Babb who recorded a double double with 12 points and 11 rebounds, and a coming out party of sorts for Laken Sams, who had 12 points and 15 rebounds as well.

For the Carlisle County Comets they were looking to get back into the First District race and they were looking to do it short handed, as the flu bug made its way through the Comet team. Key sixth man, Garrett Ballard, couldn't play due to the flu, and Senior Chase Stephens almost missed the game due to the flu as well.

The crowd, the intensity that the game was played at, and the unexpected stoppage in play was everything that was to be expected in a Hickman County/Carlisle County game. The game was fast paced, Carlisle County could not stop the outside shot of Keidran Thomas, and the Falcons could not stop the inside force of Marcus Burnett.

In the second half Thomas faded and Burnett took over as he punished the Falcons everytime that he was left unblocked out. Burnett punished the Falcons for 21 points and 22 rebounds. His running mate as of late, Derik Elliott, also played a stellar game as he had 28 points and 11 rebounds, including two free throws with 10 seconds left in regulation to give the Comets a three point lead.

Hickman County had one last trick up its sleeve, as Aaron Harpole, who Head Coach Henry Edwards summoned off the bench in the last ten seconds, hit a clutch three pointer to send it into overtime.

In between the end of the fourth and overtime a Hickman County fan succumbed to a seizure and the Falcons bench went into the locker room, as medical personnel attended to the fan.

Once overtime began it was all Carlisle County, as the Comets came away with a four point win. On top of the big performances by Marcus Burnett and Derik Elliott, you had an unexpected big performance by the aforementioned Chase Stephens. The Carlisle County Senior was the subject of fan taunting in Clinton when the Comets and Falcons played in December, and it was Stephens who had the last laugh in this game, as he recorded 14 points and five rebounds, all while fighting the flu.

The Comet win sets the stage for a race to the finish in the First District, as both Hickman County and Carlisle County sit at 2-1 in the district.

FLOODPLAINS AND WETLANDS NOTICE
NOTICE OF EXPLANATION

The Carlisle County Fiscal Court and the Carlisle County Sanitation District #1 intends to undertake adding a generator to the Arlington Lift Station near the old treatment plant. Proposed improvements to the sanitary sewer system cannot be undertaken in any other location. There is, therefore, no practicable alternative to the proposed project.

The proposed improvements to the existing sewer system conform to all applicable State floodplain protection standards. Improvements to the sanitary sewer system are part of the district's long range flood plain management plan. The proposed action will not adversely affect natural or beneficial floodplain values.

Failure to provide these improvements would result in the continued problems operating this lift station during power outages. It is the county's and district's judgment that the continued viability of the sewer system outweighs consideration of Executive Orders 11988 and 11990.

The other agencies involved in the project are the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Comments on the proposed project will be accepted until January 27, 2012. Please send your comments to the address below.

A more detailed description of the project and the flood maps are available for citizen review at the address below:

Girl Scouts Introduce New Cookie to Mark 100th Anniversary

(Louisville, KY – January 6, 2012) – Here it is the start of a new year, which can mean we all have just one thing in mind. Could it be we've resolved to work for world peace? No way. We're all thinking about Samoas, Thin Mints and Tagalongs!

Girl Scout Cookie season for Kentuckiana officially kicked off January 1. So, now is the time to order a supply of these tasty, limited-time treats. In honor of Girl Scouting's 100th anniversary, a new lemon flavored cookie will be offered this year along with other long-time favorites, including Trefoils, Do-Si-Dos, and Dulce de Leches. Cookies are still $3.50 per box.

The Girl Scout Cookie Program is the largest girl-run entrepreneurial venture in operation today. It teaches girls valuable business skills like how to set goals, manage money and work with people.

Girls and troops in the Kentuckiana Council, which serves 64 counties in the western half of KY and southern IN, put the money from their cookie sales to good use throughout the year. Their "cookie dough," as its fondly called, helps girls earn badges, take trips, go to camp and do fun troop activities. Troops also often use their funds for special service projects to help their communities.

"There are so many ways our cookies do great things," says Lora Tucker, CEO of the Kentuckiana Council. "The Girl Scout Cookie Program is much more than a fundraiser. It's a fun way for girls of all ages to earn the money that fuels their dreams."

The Kentuckiana Council's goal for this 100th anniversary year is to sell 2.26 million packages. How can you help? Just buy some cookies. You don't even have to eat them yourself if one of your New Year's resolutions is to cut down on sweets. You can earmark boxes you buy to be donated to those serving in our military.

Girls will be taking cookie orders through January 21st. Booth sales at public places such as local grocery stores or malls will run March 2-18. You can find out more by calling 502-636-0900. Or go to gskentuckiana.org, where you can also use a Cookie Locator tool to help you find a booth, or download a special "Cookie App."
